Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on October 14, 2008 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed October 14, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

1. Applicants argued that Eyer does not disclose an adaptive protocol decoder. However, the decoder of Eyer is adaptive because it can change decoding between analog and digital processing (fig. 2) and change decoding between different receive paths (i.e., satellite, cable, terrestrial).
2. Applicants argued that Eyer in view of applicant's admitted prior art ("AAPA") does not teach, suggest, or provide motivation for different first and second transport protocols. However, AAPA does provide a teaching of the state of the art that different transport protocols are used for video (page 2, lines 20-23). AAPA also notes that multiple sources having different transport formats are made available to be received (page 1, lines 20-26). AAPA provides motivation for combination with Eyer because the different transport protocols are disclosed as being proprietary (page 1, lines 9-18) known in the art as a preference for design choices (page 1, lines 30-32).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1 and 11-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eyer et al. (US 5,982,411) in view of and applicant's admitted prior art.

3. Regarding claims 1 and 11-12, Eyer discloses an adaptive transport decoder (figs. 1-2) comprising a source of a first stream of packets (item 130 or 210) each including a payload and having a first transport protocol (col. 1, lines 15-16; col. 8, lines 2-5 and 24-26; note: MPEG packets), a source of a second stream of packets (item 140 or 250), a protocol decoder (fig. 1, item 110; fig. 2, item 265; col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 7) coupled to the sources for extracting payloads from the packets, and a selector (fig. 2, items 275, 240 and 250) having input terminals (items 240 and 250) coupled to the first and second packet stream sources and an output terminal coupled to the protocol decoder (note: output terminal from item 240 or 250) for selectively coupling one of the first stream of sources to the decoder (col. 8, lines 35-39; col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 1; col. 8, lines 10-13; note: only one desired stream is sent from the demodulators to the decoder based on the user signal). Further regarding claim 11, the payloads of the packets are processed (note: standardized MPEG - col. 1, line 15). Further regarding claim 12, data from the packet header (col. 3, line 40; note: PID in header of standardized MPEG packets) is stored in a register for later use by the decoder (col. 7, line 65 through col. 8, line 1; col. 8, lines 24-26 and 31-39; col. 4, line 56 through col. 5, line 2).

4. However, Eyer does not disclose different transport protocols for the first and second packet streams. Applicant's admitted prior art discloses that packets from different streams have different transport protocols (pages 1-2; note: ATSC for terrestrial broadcasts has a different transport format than DSS for satellite broadcasts). Therefore, it would be obvious to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made to have different transport protocols in the invention of Eyer in order to provide data as related to the communication medium or by preference, as is known in the art (specification, page 1, note: prior-art proprietary transport formats).

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Claims 4-10 are allowed
